NUMB. 3213

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 3, 1744.

Since our last arrived one of the Mails due from Holland.

Moscow, August 9.

THE Grand Duke, the Grand Duchess, with her Mother, the Princess of Anhalt Zerbst, set out on the 6th for Kiow; and on the 7th the Empress set out, with all the Court. Lord Tyravley, his Britannick Majesty's Minister, who was seized with a kind of Apoplexy, is out of Danger, and in a fair way of doing well. The Danish Minister is very assiduous about the Court. It is whispered, that all the Disputes about the Duchy of Sleswick are like to be amicably adjusted; and that, in Consequence of some new Treaty now on the Carpet, her Imperial Majesty will immediately march 40,000 Men from Courland to Dantzick. In the mean time it is certain, that the Guards have Orders to desile towards Petersburg, and that the Court will return thither as soon as the Journey is over to Kiow. On the Consummation of his Imperial Highness's Marriage, it is generally believed the late Duke of Courland, and some other State Criminals, will be recalled from Siberia.

Stockholm, August 21. Their Royal Swedish Highnesses are expected here on the 28th from Carelsroon; and prodigious Preparations are making, in order to afford them a splendid Reception. His Majesty is in perfect Health, and, according to all Appearance, is meditating some Design of Importance; secret Conferences being frequently held at the Palace, to which only a few of the principal Ministers are called, and every Thing managed with the utmost Secrecy. His Prussian Majesty's Manifesto, on his taking up Arms in Behalf of the Emperor, has been published here, and received with the utmost Applause. It is believed the King will concur with that Prince, in endeavouring to restore Peace to the Empire; and that he has already sent Orders into his German Dominions for the March of 6000 Hessian Troops to join the Imperial Army. General Lubras, Ambassador from her Imperial Majesty of all the Russias, arrived here on the 19th. As that Minister was lately for some time at Berlin, many People fancy that he is entrusted with some Secrets of Importance; and that he comes hither on a Negotiation which will give a new Turn to the Affairs of the North, and of Europe.

Naples, August 11. Upon certain Intelligence that several English Men of War had been seen at no great Distance from our Coast, Don Michael Regio went in Person to visit the Batteries and Intrenchments thrown up along our Coast, in order to cover them from any sudden Attempt. His Majesty having written to the Regency, in very pressing Terms, to send him a considerable Sum of Money, and the Finances of the Kingdom being entirely exhausted, it has been resolved to have Recourse to a new Tax, which is to be imposed on every Hearth, or Fire-place, in the Kingdom. Some People are very apprehensive, that the imposing such a Tax, at so critical a Juncture, may be attended with great Inconveniencies. The Necessity, however, of his Majesty's Affairs, will, in all probability, oblige him to run the Risk of those Inconveniencies, upon the Count de Gages's Maxim; who, when this Objection was made in a Council at Veletri, said, 'That he would not have his Majesty lose a Kingdom, for fear of losing it.' We expect 6000 Regular Troops from Sicily, as soon as Vessels enough can be got together to transport them; and, in the mean time, we are daily sending small Bodies of Recruits, and Barks laden with Ammunition and Provisions, to the Army.

Rome, August 15. The following Account has been published here, by Order of Cardinal Aquaviva, containing the Relation of what passed lately at the Attack of Veletri.

'Prince Lobkowitz attempted, on the 11th of this Month, to surprize our Army. He attack'd us early in the Morning, with the best Part of his Troops, on the Side of the High Mountain; which is the best fortified of any of the Posts we possess. Count Brown at the same time attack'd this City at the Head of a Detachment of 5000 Men. This Body surpriz'd the Brigade of Ireland, that was posted on the Left, and penetrated into the Town, where they sack'd some Houses, and did a great deal of Mischief, till such time as 4 Battalions of the Walloon Guards, and other Troops, came to our Relief, and drove them out of the Place. Such of the Enemy as escaped had much ado to regain their Camp. They had no better Success on the Side of the Mountain, which they attack'd with great Fury. After a very obstinate Dispute, which lasted some Hours, they were repuls'd by our Troops. The Number of the kill'd and wounded, on our Side, is not very considerable; but, in the Beginning of the Action, the Enemy made about 300 Prisoners. Of this Number is Count Mariani, who was confined to his Bed by the Gout in his Stomach, and in both his Knees; and who, notwithstanding he was in this Condition, could not obtain Leave to remain in Veletri on his Parole of Honour. On our Side, we have made Prisoner General Novati, several Officers of different Ranks, and about 700 Men. We cannot exactly tell the Enemy's Loss in dead and wounded; but these are Facts that cannot be denied, that the Streets of this City, and the Roads on the Mountain, are cover'd, and in a manner choak'd up, with the dead Bodies. In the mean time, we do not pretend to deny that the Project of Prince Lobkowitz was extremely well concerted, and executed with the utmost Bravery; but executed, at the same time, in such a manner, as has cost him very dear. His Sicilian Majesty was at the Head of his Army, gave his Orders every where, and shewed, upon this Occasion, all possible Marks of Personal Courage, and of Presence of Mind. Our Batteries of heavy Cannon continue, by their perpetual Fire, to do infinite Damage in the Enemy's Camp.'

Prince Lobkowitz has made several Motions, as if he intended to cut off the Communication of the Enemy with the Kingdom of Naples; but we are of Opinion, that the true Design of these Motions, was to cover the Embarkation of a Body of 4000 Men, under the Command of General Brown, which are to be put on board the English Fleet; to which have been lately sent, from hence, vast Quantities of Biscuit, and other Provision, together with Beams and Planks, with whatever else is necessary for Bridges, in case of a Descent.

Turin, August 19. The Loss of Demont is a very great Misfortune; the Garison consisted of 1000 Men, 52 Officers, and 138 belonging to the Train. The Enemy began to fire upon the Place but the Day before; and the Accident of the red hot Bullet produced so dangerous a Fire, that the Governor had but just Time to set up a White Flag, and surrender at Discretion. The Place continued in Flames all the 17th; on the 18th, in the Morning, it was extinguished. They have taken in the Place 46 Pieces of Brass Cannon, eight of Iron, as many Mortars, and 150,000 lb. Weight of Powder. This is doubly inconvenient to us; as it furnishes the Enemy with Artillery, and as it deprives us of a Place, which, without doubt, would have held out three Weeks or a Month. The Prince of Conti has caused Coni to be summon'd, and has threaten'd the Governor, that if he does not surrender immediately, he will not grant Quarter either to him or to his Garison; but notwithstanding this, we make no Question that this Place will detain them a Month, or five Weeks; especially, as his Majesty is at the Head of a numerous Army, and is so encamp'd, as that he will be able to harass them excessively, during the whole Continuance of the Siege.

Genoa, August 15. His Sardinian Majesty finding the Austrian Succours very slow, has drawn 6000 of his own Troops out of the Milanese, in order to reinforce his Army. We are much at a Loss as to the Design of the Spanish Fleet at Carthage; some say it is sail'd again, in order to intercept the Succours that are going to Admiral Matthews; others believe, that it will join the Breft Squadron, in order to fetch the Gallies from the Havanna; not a few imagine, that it will join the French Squadron at Toulon, in order to give Admiral Matthews Battle; while abundance of our Politicians persuade themselves, that all these are Mistakes; and that, with a French Squadron, it will be employed in escorting a Body of Troops, that are to make a Descent either in England or Ireland.

Vienna, August 28. It is thought the Queen will return to Presbourg in a very few Days, in order to hasten, by her Presence, the Levies that are to be made for her Service; at the Head of which Prince Esterhazy will put himself, Count Palfi's great Age rendering it impossible for him to take the Field. The Troops that are actually assembling, for the Queen's Service, amount to about 40,000 Men; and there is a Body of Reserve of about 30,000, which will likewise march, if there should be Occasion. In order to give this Nation, of whose Loyalty the Queen has received so many indubitable Proofs, a Testimony of her Royal Gratitude and Indulgence, her Majesty has been pleas'd to grant them free Liberty to transport the Commodities and Manufactures of their Kingdom wherever they think fit; and has likewise granted to the Protestants, the free Exercise of their Religion. The Cabinet Courier Satzfeldt, arrived here lately from Warsaw, with Dispatches of very great Importance; and the Ambassador from Venice has received a Couriers from the Senate, with fresh Instructions, as to the Treaty that is negotiating here. The King of Prussia is arrived with his main Corps at the Defile of Peterwalde in Bohemia. His March was obstructed by the Trees that had been cut down and thrown in the Way, and by the Roads having been broken up: The Passage was guarded by 1000 Croats, who were twice attack'd by the Prussians; in the first of which, the King's Troops lost Thirty, and in the second 80 Men. The Elb. is almost stop'd up with Boats that have been lately sunk in it, so that his Artillery must come round by Land.

Frankfort, August 30. On the 25th of this Month the Directory of Metz carried to the Dictature a Decree, in which the Emperor notifies to the Germanick Body, the Resolution taken by the King of Prussia, to support the supreme Head of the Empire; and to contribute, to the utmost of his Power, to restore, and fix on a solid Basis, the Tranquility of Germany; exhorting, at the same time, all the Electors, Princes, and States of the Empire, to concur in the same laudable Design, and to support him with all their Forces. All the Advices from the Upper Rhine agree, that the Retreat of Prince Charles of Lorraine was conducted with the utmost Prudence; and that his whole Loss did not exceed 700 Men. Private Letters from Rome assure us, that in the Action on the 11th, Prince Lobkowitz lost 7000 Men, kill'd, wounded, and taken Prisoners; which had reduc'd his Army to such a Degree, that he has been forc'd to abandon his Camp, and retire to Frascati.

Oudenarde, August 30. Upon the 24th of this Month an Ordonnance was published at Conde, whereby every Burgher, who had not Provision sufficient to last a whole Year, was immediately to depart the Town. The Garison of that Place consists of five Battalions and one Squadron; and that of Douay of four Battalions of Militia; and there are encamp'd, at present, upon the Glacis of this last Place, between the Fort and the Scarpe, five Regiments of Horse, making in the whole thirteen Squadrons. Count Saxe has demanded 400 Carts of the District of Ipre and Courtrai. We hear, that his Army expected to decamp soon, and to take the Post between Menin and Comines, in order to succour Conde or Valenciennes, for which Places they are apprehensive.

Metz, August 28. His Majesty recovers his Strength every Day, having, by the Advice of his Physicians, had his Head shav'd. The 13th of next Month is fix'd for his Majesty's Departure, in case no Accident happens. He proposes to visit Strasbourg, and some other Places in Alsace, before his Return to Versailles. A Detachment of 30,000 Men, from the Army of M. Coigny, have had Orders to march immediately into Flanders, in order to reinforce the King's Army there, and enable it to act on the Offensive.

Hague, September 5. According to our last Advices from Germany, his Prussian Majesty is resolv'd to push Things to the utmost. On the 26th his Troops were assembling within a few Leagues of Prague, which was to be invest'd on the 28th; he has with him a very fine Train of Artillery, and no less than 30 Mortars. General Mauvitz has enter'd Moravia with 20,000 Men; and there is to be a Corps of 15,000 Prussians, which is to join the Imperial Army, at Wernbdingen. Among the last Orders that were issued at Berlin, were these: That no Officer should carry above half a Dozen Shirts; and that no more than six Women should be allowed to follow each Company. The Prince of Holstein Beck, the oldest General Officer in the Service of the Republick, died, at his Government of Bois-le-duc, on the 1st, about Three in the Morning, aged 78. They write from Amsterdam, that the East-India Company's Ship the Rynsburg, is arriv'd in the Texel; as is the Polanen, in the Meuse; both these Ships are from Batavia; we likewise learn, that the Pahmos, from Canton in China, is come into one of the Ports of Zealand. Twenty-seven Ships from the Coast of Greenland arriv'd lately in the Texel, having taken 204 Whales; as also two Ships from Davis's Streights, with 13 Whales. We have certain Intelligence from Dusseldorp, that the Palatine Troops are actually in full March to join the Army of Count Seckendorff.

To which is prefixed the LIFE of the Author, newly compiled from Materials more ample and authentic than have yet been published. By Mr. OLDYS.

Sir WALTER RALEIGH'S History of the World is a Work of so vast a Compass, such endless Variety, that no Genius, but one adventurous as his own, durst have undertaken that great Design. I do not apprehend any great Difficulty in collecting and common-placing an Universal History from the whole Body of Historians; that is nothing but mechanic Labour. But to digest the several Authors in his Mind, to take in all their Majesty, Strength, and Beauty, to raise the Spirit of meane Historians; and to equal all the Excellencies of the best, is Sir Walter's peculiar Traife. His Style is the most perfect, the happiest, and most beautiful, of the age he wrote in; majestic, clear, and many, and he appears every where so superior, rather than unequal to his Subject, that the Spirit of Rome and Athens seems to be breathed into his Work.
